

Name _____

Phones and TV

Search online to find the pricing and details for each company. Some parts might be a little difficult to find, so fill in the chart as best you can.

	AT&T	Verizon	Cricket	Sprint
Cost of Unlimited Plan for one phone
Cost for 4 lines
Is this a promotional plan?
Extras included with plan (hot-spots, tv apps, etc)
Are there other charges/fees?
Does the network have good coverage/good reviews?

	Cable	Sling	Hulu	Netflix
Cost of basic/average plan
Cost for additional packages, if applicable
Is this a promotional plan?
Number of devices allowed at one time
Are there other charges/fees?
Does this provide you with the shows/movies you would want to watch?

1. Your internet and cable are bundled. It costs a total of $105.98 per month. What is the total cost for the year?
2. You have Netflix for $12.99 per month. You also pay $65.99 for internet each month. What is the total cost for the year?
3. You and your family are going together to get 4 phone lines at Cricket. You previously had 4 phone lines at Verizon. Are you going to save by switching to Cricket? If so, how much?
4. You are getting one phone line through AT&T. You are also getting Netflix and Hulu. What is the total cost for your phone and TV services per month? Per year?
5. You decide to go with Sprint for one phone. You also want Hulu. A friend of yours has one phone with Verizon and Cable. When phone and TV are combined, who has the cheaper monthly bill? What is the difference between the combined bills?
6. The Cable company is running a promotional offer: $44.99 per month for the first 12 months. After that, the price increases to $64.99. What is the total cost during the first year? What is the total cost during the second year? What is the difference between the two?
7. Which phone plan would you choose? Why?
8. Which TV option(s) would you choose? Why?